Oxford University Begbroke Science Park

Begbroke Hill, Woodstock Road, Begbroke OX5 5PF

Most visitors to the Department of Materials should go to the Central Site in Oxford (see map overleaf) however some visitors will be asked to visit Begbroke Science Park approximately 6 miles north of the city.

Travelling by car from the Department of Materials in central Oxford, head north along the Banbury Road. At the roundabout turn left onto the Northern By-pass. At the next roundabout turn right onto the Woodstock road. At the next roundabout (The Pear Tree junction with the A34) continue straight following signs for Woodstock. After another three mini-roundabouts following signs to Woodstock turn right at the traffic lights signed for Oxford University Begbroke Science Park.

Visitors without a car may be able to use the Department's minibus service. Alternatively a taxi costs about £10 one-way.
