Oxford Research Archive
Institutional repository www.bodleian.ox.ac.uk/ora

The digital copy of your thesis is deposited in ORA

On-line record of research activity taking place at Oxford University

Helps to raise research (and researcher) profile

Increases accessibility to research

Safe, long-term storage

Open Access Publishing

Publishing research papers so that they are free for everybody to download, read and re-use

Now required by many funding bodies
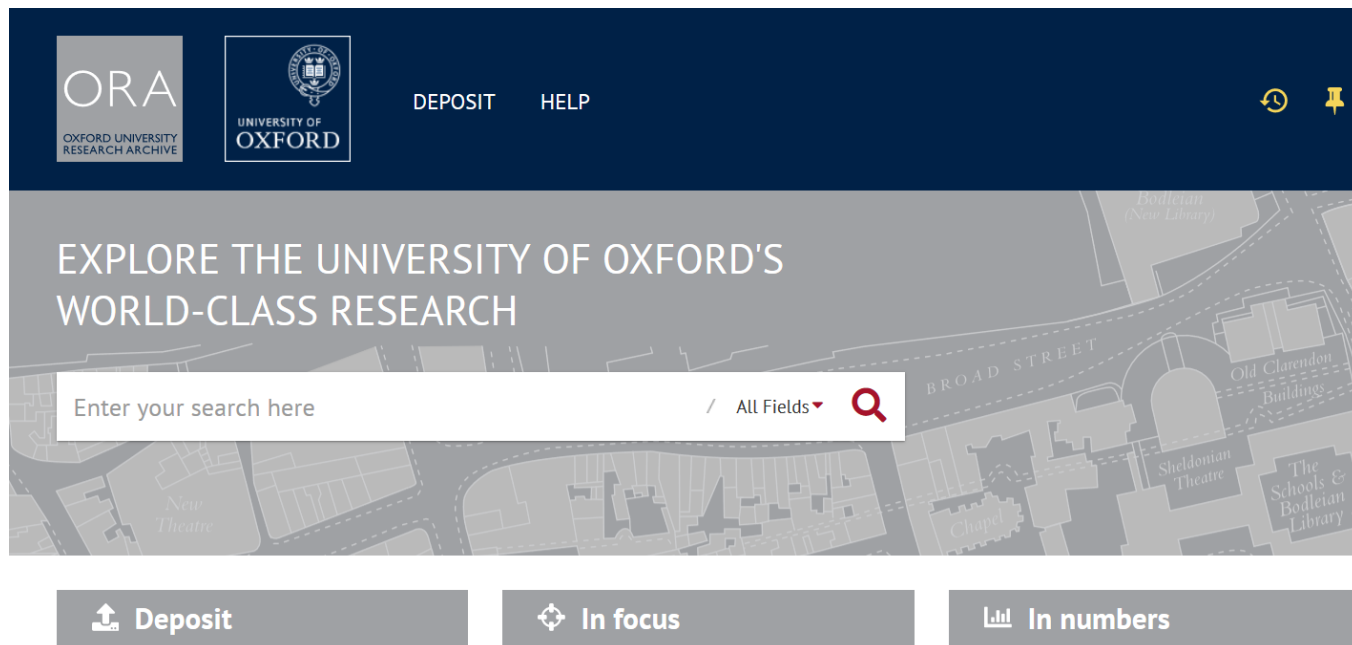

Library can offer information about OA publishing options, funder requirements and help in applying for funding for OA publication

Open Access at Oxford website: http://openaccess.ox.ac.uk/

What is an ORCID number?

- An ORCID number provides researchers with a way to unambiguously identify themselves

- Each researcher is given a unique, persistent (and free!) ORCID number when they set up a profile

- ORCID @ Oxford allows you to add Oxford University affiliation

- The number can be attached to Publications, Datasets, Grants

- Make sure you get credited for your work!
